The Democratic National Con-

Amid scene of great enthusiasm the first session of the Democratic National Convention was held Tuesday at Denver. Following the speech of Theodore Bell, of California, the temporary chairman, who for an hour expounded in eloquent manner the position of the Democratic party on the leading ques-tions at issue, the committees were formed and the convention adjourned out of respect to the memory of former President Grover Cleveland, until noon Wednesday.

The following is the resolution offered by I. J. Dunn, of Omaha, Neb.:
As it has pleased the Ruler of the Universe to remove from our midst Grover Cleveland, late President of the United States, who was three times the candidate of the Democratic party,

Resolved, That we, the delegates of the party in national convention assembled, recognize in him one of the strongest and ablest characters known to the world's statesmanship, who possessed to an extraordinary degree the tion of public affairs reflected honor

The demonstration at the National Convention Wednesday when William Jennings Bryan's name was mentioned by Senator Gore broke all records of National conventions for enthusiasm and duration. The cheering lasted for exactly thirty minutes, full thirtynine minutes longer than the cheering for Roosevelt at the Republican con-

The Resolutions Committee spent the entire day Wednesday at work upon the platform, and finding that the sub- play, grand illumination, set pieces, committee would be unable to finish | bombs, etc. its task in a reasonable time, it was sub-divided and committees of three were named to write individual planks. Reasonable Profit.

What is "a reasonable profit" for the Industrial Trusts to charge over and above the difference between the cost, of production at home and abroad? The Republican managers who are hand and glove with the protected trusts and combines evidently know, but are airaid to inform the voters, for the Republican platform declares that:

"In all tariff legislation the true principle of projection is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of projuction at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American idustries."

As the present tariff undoubtedly upholds "the tru- principle of protecdeclares that on top of this enormous O. It is the evident intention of velt at the Chicago Convention, should our Republican tariff thinkers to allow be a warning to the other 63 millionthe trusts and protected interests to aires who attended the convention to say how much the increase shall be, and let such strenuous politics as Roosevelt as we all know they are not bashful in seems to require religiously alone in their ideas of what is "reasonable."

He created a new world for the little folk, a rare and novel realm of fancy, peopled with truly wonderful animals endowed with human sagacity. He introduced them to Brer Rabbit, now one baked in 40 years at one restaurant, of their best loved companions, and besides scores of other dainties. If all made them acquainted with Brer 'Possum and Brer B'ar. He fired their childish imagination with odd and curious stories of negro folklore and opened wide their eyes with wonder tales from plantation myths. His gallery of animal types was a unique contribution to letters.

Harris' art, like his life, was humble. He never turned his pen to high themes. Yet as an entirely original American 'writer, one native and racy of the soil, he deserved a place with Poe. Whitman, Hawthorne, Mark Twain and Bret Harte.

An Era of Extravagance.

The Roosevelt administration now places to its account the third deficit in seven years. With deficits of $42,-000,000 in 1904, $23,000,000 in 1905 and now $60,000,000 in 1908—considering the flush times it has enjoyed up to nine months ago-it makes a shockingly bad showing.

This deficit of $60,000,000 for the fiscal year just ended represents the penalty paid for wilful extravagance. It is only $4,000,000 less than the total shrinkage in Government receipts during a year of acute financial panic and general depression in trade. Primarily:

— no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, it is due to an increase of $80,000,000 in expenditures in one year, without which there would have been only a what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescriptions amounting to the immense aggregate of $1,008,804,894 for the year now beginning, Mr. Roosevelt promises to sign'ilized the end of his term in the relized the end of his term in the Presidency by still deeper inroads upon the surplus accumulated in days of prosperity.

The twelve months just closed have witnessed the heaviest expenditures in the history of the country since 1865, not excepting the period of the war with Spain. Under Mr. Roosevelt the expenditures for the three years 1906expenditures for the three years 1906-1908, together with the appropriations for 1909, when the country has been at peace, have reached the grand total of $3,428,809,371, or $33,978,440 more than during the four years of the civil war.

One of the most formidable tasks of Mr. Roosevelt's successor will be to keep the country on a working basis within its income. No project to spend money was ever vetoed by Mr. Roosevelt. Many projects to spend more money which he advocated failed of approval by Congress. Public extravagance is a disease which he has done nothing to check, but much to make compulsory upon later administrations.

Fiddle and Grow Hair.

It is now a scientifically proved fact that music exercises a great influence on the growth of the hair. It is with good reason that great musicians, such as Paganini, Liszt and Paderewski, are represented with a growth of hair which Absalom might have envied. Science has proved that stringed instruments have a favorable influence on the growth of the hair, while brass instruments act in the opposite direction. Every one has probably observed that a bald violinist is as rare as a bald horn player is common. Wood instruments, such as the flute, seem to have no pronounced influence either way.-Paris Menestrel.

Other speakers representing the first two denominations also will discuss the topic, and it is expected that the discussion will result in a long stride toward the union of the two denominations-Baptists and Disciples of Christ, the first steps toward which were taken two years ago.

At the National Congress of Disciples, in Indianapolis, in March, 1908, by invitation Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Conjugille and March 1908. cal Seminary, of Louisville, and Mr. Spencer discussed the topic: "What Does the New Testament Teach Concerning the Doctrine of the Remission of Sins." One session of the congress was given entirely to the address.

The similarity of the teachings of the denominations on vital points aroused great enthusiasm. This gave what are their doctrinal differences. Acting upon the suggestion, the congress apppointed a committee of ten. with Mr. Spencer chairman, and invited the appointment of a committee of the heads of committees have held frequent conference and consultations.

The original drafts of the statements have been completed and are before the members of the committee for suggestions. When finally revised these statements will be given wide publicity through the religious press, and in the course of time will come before the congress of the denominations. A Simple Man

By MADELINE LEWIS

Young Mr. Trask, the lawyer, in tended to be a candidate for the legis ature in the Fourth district. He ban the reputation of being sharp, keen and shrewd. Many said he was "up to snuff" Others said that he would were not overlooked. Some though; tion, he ought to have the nomination beand this would give him a boost. The young man had been in Watervale only a year, and as he was only twen ty-seven, good looking and bound to succeed he had made a p'ace for himself in society. He could flatter himself that he had made progress in every family but one, the Thompson

They called John Thompson "Honest John." That had been his appellation for years. He was part farmer and part citizen and not well off in this world's goods, and yet he had a reputation that plenty of men might envy. His daughter Minnie, an only child. was neither a belle nor a leader of society, but she was fair looking and possessed of strong character and not at all the young lady to be captivated by the personal advantages of the young Mr Trask

They had met socially, and she had not at all been taken with him On the other hand, he had been greatly impressed. Intuition told him that he was not in favor but the opposition only stimulated him. He had easily made triends with the father, but be found that to win the girl's interest would be a far different thing.

For weeks it had been a foregone conclusion that Mr. Trask would be nominated and elected, but when the convention was finally called it developed that the ring politicians had not counted on the farming community. The men of the plow had become tired of the politicians and their tricks -of the promises so freely made and so often broken-and when the moment came they broke away and made a surprising nomination.

"Honest John" was the nominee. He had never held a political office in his life. He was home and at work instead of being at the convention, but his friends pledged him to stand, and he accepted it. Only one influence decided him in this matter, and that was the advice of his daughter.

"Father," she said to him when the news came, "you are not a politician, and you are not a schemer. You can't make a speech, and you won't be heard of in that body. You are simply a plain, honest man, and you will go there to represent others of the same men are wanted at the front. Go there night a few weeks ago." and do your duty as best you can." "I wish Lawyer Trask had got it," he sighed. "He can make speeches and mix in with the best of 'em and come home to be talked of in the papers. I shall be only a toadstool on a stump. By the way, hain't be coming help on that bill and because I was gohere pretty often?"

"Yes; he calls occasionally." "I thought it was a little oftener than occasionally."

"If it is, he is wasting his time. Father, I don't like Mr. Trask. He is too ambitious to get ahead. He is so ambitious that he loses sight of the scruples that should guide all honest men. He wanted to go to the legislature simply as a means to advance his own interests."

"But I took him to be a young man of good principles."

"Politics has no principles, and he seeks to be a politician. There is but one watchword with them, and that is ey belonged to charity. to win. You will be elected as an honest man and not as a politician."

"Oh, I shan't do any stealing," smiled the father, "but I'm thinking show that it reached 'em. No, I that I'll feel like a cat in a strange garret up there. I'd a heap rather they had sent some one else, but I'll try it for a term if you say so. Perhaps there'll be three or four other old codgers like me to get in with."

There was no question about the and if you don't mend your ways you'll chagrin and disappointment of the bring up in the county house before young lawyer over his defeat, but he you are forty years old." dissembled fairly well before the girl when he made his next call. He acknowledged that it was something of a setback, but rejoiced that it was her father who had secured the nomina-

Before departing he grew sentimental and might have made a declaration of his love if he had not been checked. He must have plainly understood that he had as yet created no interest, but in his perversity he determined to con-

The farmer had hardly been settled in his seat at the state capitol when Trask appeared. He was more than usually deferential and friendly. He could and he did give the honest man many helpful pointers, and it was a fortnight before the errand that brought him there was stated. He was a lobbyist for a certain corporation which

"Honest John" had read and heard something about that charter. He had never fairly got to the right or wrong of it, but when the lawyer came to talk with him about it and endeavor will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pays them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by W. T. Brooks. You need no other guarantee.

It looked easy for a man who was "up to stuff" to handle this old farmter. He handled others, and then sent to enlist his aid John Thompson gave them to Thompson to argue and dis mss and win him over. Money and promises were freely used, and thercame a time when the lobbyist could at least figure on an even vote in the "Honest John" still stuck out. He badn't the acumen to discover where the colored gentleman was hidden, but be bad a feeling that he was there in the wood pile somewhere, and he would not commit bimself.

It was then that the lawyer dropped argument for the more powerful wear He knew the financial condition of the farmer. He doubted if the man had ever had a thousand dollars in his hand. Though rated as "bonest," there was a doubt as to whether be could see that the interests of the district stand temptation-legislative tempta-

One night he paid Thompson a visit in his room and went over the whole matter with him, putting everything in a most favorable light, and when he went away be left a thousand dollars in crisp greenbacks on the bureau That was double the price he had paid others, but he had reasons for increasing the bribe. The money was found after be left, and next day the old farmer came to him to restore it.

"It must have been left by some other caller," was the reply, "probably by some one who was in there, arguing in favor of my bill. He may speak to you about it in the course of the day."

"But he was mighty careless to leave a thousand dollars lying around that

"Oh, he isn't worrying about it. Perhaps be wanted to make you a little present and took that way of doing it. It's often done here in the legislature, you know."

"It may be, but I've done nothing to earn it, and I don't know more than ten members by name. I wish that the teller who left it would come back."

He was told to hang on to the money until the owner called for it, but he was much perplexed and put out. By a curious coincidence three weeks later he found two other farmer members who had come into possession of $500 each in just as mysterious a manner. There seemed to be a philanthropist going about among the conscientious members and distributing rewards of

When the house adjourned for a week and "Honest John" went home to his daughter he had that thousand dollars with him, and its history was still a mystery. In a few hours, however, he was enlightened, and he went back to the legislative body to en-

The day finally came when Lawyer Trask's bill was up. He had counted noses and was sure of its passage. He sat there in the utmost confidence, to be amazed and dumfounded when it was defeated by a majority of three. Honest John and his two farmer friends had recorded their votes among the "nays," although they had been bought and paid for. An hour later the former had a caller at his room. The caller was pale faced and desperate.

DREAM FOOD.

Hasheesh, the Strange Drug That Is Used In the Orient.

Hasheesh, that strange drug which has given our language its word "assassin"-a man so frenzied by the drug that he accomplishes murder-is used by the Persians, Turks and Egyptians in a manner akin to the use of opium by the Chinese. It is the product of a plant grown in large quantities in the Peloponnesus (southern Greece) in the district about Tripolitza. The plant grows to a height of about four feet, and its branches are thickly covered with small leaves and studded with tiny seeds.

The entire plant, stalk and branches, is cut within a few inches of the roof and laid out in the sun to dry. The branches are then rubbed to separate the seeds, and these in turn are ground into a fine powder, which constitutes the drug. The drug has the power of inducing sleep and producing pleasant and fantastic dreams. Continued use of hasheesh renders its devotees wild and reckless and results in a complete wreck of their mental and physical constitution.

For this reason the Egyptian government prohibited the importation of the drug and entered into a convention with Greece to prevent its exportation from there to Egypt, where the consumers of basheesh are very numerous. The drug is practically never used in Greece, but is now exported to the various ports in England, Austria, France and Italy, and from there much, no doubt, ultimately finds its way to Egypt.

BRIGHT SAYINGS.

A Little Batch of Stories Related by an Englishman.

The sultan of Turkey had sent the queen of Spain a diamond bracelet. She had the stones reset in earrings and called the fact to the attention of Fuad Pasha, the Turkish envoy.

"His majesty," replied Fuad, "will be delighted that your majesty gives an ear to what comes from Constantino-

To the same Fuad an Englishwoman impolitely said. "How many wives have you?"

"The same number as your husband, madam," said the wily Turk. "The only difference is that he conceals one

When Robert Lowe married and said "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," he grumbled to his wife afterward, "And at the time I hadn't a brass farthing."

"Oh, but, my dear, you forget there is your genius." Lowe replied, "Well, you cannot say endowed you with that."

In a much older story Frederick the Great is represented as saying angrily to the English ambassador of the day. England is now without an ally upon the continent except God." Sir Hugh Elliott instantly replied, 'Yes, sire, but God is an ally that demands no subsidy."-From "Rambling Reminiscences," by Sir Henry Drummond Wolff.

What Might Have Been.

Lord Rosebery in an address at Glasgow university some years ago gave utterance to the following interesting speculation:

commons he could doubtless have induced George III. to listen to reason, introduced American representation into parliament and preserved the thirteen colonies to England. The new blood of America would have burst the old vessels of the constitution and provided a self adjusting system of representation. There would have been no war of separation, no war of 1812, and finally, when the Americans became a majority, the empire would perhaps have moved solemnly across the Atlantic and Britain become a historic shrine, the European outpost of the empire."

The Roman Forum.

The Forum Romanum, the first that was erected in Rome, served equally for the purposes of trade and all public meetings as well as for the admin istration of justice by the consuls and other Roman magistrates. Later on, "In 1902 I had a very severe attack when the fora numbered some eightwas unable to do anything. GREAT

AND CLEARANCE SALE

HARRY SMON'S

Wait For It. Nothing Like this Sale Ever Seen in the Good Old City of Paris . . .

OUR buyers were on the ground with a great syndicate who bought the entire stock of Loom Ends from several of the largest mills of the country. These goods were bought at auction for spot cash. We propose to offer such un-heard of buying chances during this sale that will make competition tremble and buyers smile. We have plenty of Loom Ends suited to your ideas. There are plenty of long pieces in nice colors, shades and patterns. You will find just what you want cheaper than you expect. If you imagine Loom Ends are a lot of junk you will be agreeably surprised.

Come Early and Get Choice.

What is Meant by The Greatest Sale of Loom Ends? Where Do They Ready-to-Wear Come From? We Will Tell You.

Loom Ends are goods that fall short in length of the requirements for export purposes, but identical in quality with the first grades, yet still not to be classed with the regular goods, because they are wanting in length, or a slight imperfection in the weave, careless stitching in the underwear or a thread dropped in hosiery. These are Loom Ends. None of these slight flares hurt the wear or the looks of the goods to the customer, but they prevent mills or factories from selling them at a profit The enormous stock of Loom Ends we have purchased for this sale are all new goods, fresh from the looms, and are offered today at Loom cost. You will never know what Loom End Cost is if you fail to attend this sale, for the prices given are but an inkling of the money-saving opportunities offered. You pay two or three times the price for the same goods at other stores.
